

We believe that the goal of healthcare should be to prevent health issues, rather than simply treat them. That's why we're offering a new personalized approach to help you optimize your health.

Instead of adhering to the standard healthcare model, which focuses on managing illness, we're breaking the mold to provide personalized attention and improved care options, designed to help you reach and maintain your health goals.

With this new program, you'll experience benefits such as:

A wellness plan customized to your personal health goals

Unhurried appointments that begin on time

Appointments the same or next business day

Dr. Darryl Hein's undivided attention

24/7/365 physician availability via phone, text, or email

Office visits for visiting friends and family

How the Personalized Care Program works

Implementing your Personalized Care Program is the first step toward reaching your health goals. We'll work together to detect early signs of illness and, through increased interaction, education, and follow-up, strive to keep you healthy and vibrant.

We'll spend the time to discuss the results of your examination and tests, identify areas for improvement, and craft a personalized plan based on our agreed-upon objectives. Once your plan has been established, we'll work closely with you to monitor your progress and ensure that you stay on track.

Ultimately, good health costs less than poor health

Under this new program, you'll benefit from some of the finest service and most attentive care in the nation. Our goal is to help you optimize your well-being and spend less money over the long term on expenses like prescription drugs, hospitalization, specialist visits, and other expenses associated with managing disease.

To cover the additional services and attention you'll receive from the doctor, you'll be asked to pay an affordable membership fee for services that aren't covered by your insurance plan; however, we'll also continue to bill your insurance company for processing of your covered medical benefits.

The remedy for a broken healthcare system

Under the current U.S. healthcare model, the typical medical practice must maintain a roster of thousands of patients just to remain sustainable. This means that patients typically have to wait more than 20 minutes for a mere 13-minute visit with their doctor. Even worse, once they see the doctor, their care options are limited to what's allowed by their insurance provider as medically necessary.

To remedy this problem, I've chosen to personally manage the care of a few hundred program members. By carefully managing my time, I can offer you longer and more thorough appointments per visit. This additional time enables me to get to know you, better understand your health condition, and determine what's best for you—rather than what's best for your insurance company.

It's a bit like having a trusted friend who happens to be a physician. You can take your time, ask all the questions you'd like, and get thoughtful answers from someone who fully listens to you and understands your concerns.
